

CITM students excelled in campus recruitment drive and Star Anchor Hunt.

It is again a proud moment for Chameli Devi Institute of Technology and Management (CITM), Indore, when one of its final year students brought immense happiness to the campus through her enthusiasm and dedication. Ashmi Sharma (CSE-Final year) adjudged the Best Performer (Anchor) of Madhya Pradesh, in the 'Star Anchor Hunt' organized by Star News channel at Indore on 30th March 2010. She is one among three selected candidates from Madhya Pradesh for the mega finals, which will be held in Delhi in the month of May 2010. Only 30 candidates were shortlisted for the finals, from all parts of the country amongst thousands of participants. The judges were Mr. Chetan Bhagat (a renowned novelist), Ms. Tisca Chopra (Actress) & Mr. Deepak Chourasia (Star News Anchor). There were GD, PTC, written and personal interview rounds for the competition.

And CITM students Ashmi Sharma & Sumanyu Bhatnagar (EC-Final year) were selected in an open campus recruitment drive organized by a multi-national company, Convergys, at LNCT, Indore. Out of 2500 candidates, only 8 were selected from Indore. They will hold the responsibilities of a Software Developer with a package of 3.75 lac p.a. for the training period of 1 year. "Enthusiasm is the engine of success, and Ashmi is highly enthusiastic and success would be on her way, always." Dr. S. Rajashekharaiiah (Director General, CITM & CIMR) said. Just being nominated for the finals of a high profiled competition like this, is an honor in itself. We will be keeping our fingers crossed for her until the final result is announced. This was the response from the members of faculty, staff and other students of CITM. Mr. Vinod Kumar Agarwal (Chairman, CITM & CIMR), Dr. S. Rajashekharaiiah (Director General, CITM & CIMR), Dr. CNS Murthy (Director, CITM), faculty members & staff congratulated Ashmi Sharma and Sumanyu Bhatnagar for their great efforts and achievements.
